

THE BARRE DAILY TIMES

Entered at the Post Office at Barre as Second Class Matter.

Published every week-day afternoon.
Subscriptions: One year, $1.00; one month, 25 cents; single copy, 1 cent.
Frank E. Langley, Publisher.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1909.

The average daily circulation of the Barre Daily Times for the week ending Saturday was copies, the largest paid circulation of any daily paper in this section.

Another strike on at Pittsburg today, but it's a better striking at a base ball.

Peary doesn't perhaps realize how far Cook is getting ahead of him on the sidestroke exhibit.

White River Junction ran a great risk yesterday with sixty Vermont fire insurance agents gathered there.

James M. Barrie's first successful book was "When a Man's Single," and he is now going back to try it—single life.

"New York is a good old town"—we have it from the authority of the town itself, otherwise we might not have known it.

The surgeons are again busy at the big college, applying bones which refused to stand the test of de-brominated foot ball.

A prisoner in New York claims to be the inventor Fulton come back to earth. He probably got the first syllable of his name right.

Vermont club women must have wanted to get into the influence of the "atmosphere" to go way to Boston for their annual convention.

A Brandon attorney who hadn't visited Montpelier for seventeen years promptly fell into the North creek—a penalty for his neglect of the Capital City.

Is not the St. Johnsbury Republican a trifle previous in speaking of "Governor Mead" as attending the recent clam bake in St. Johnsbury? We had supposed there needed to be the formality of an election, at any rate.

Wonder why the appointment of a census supervisor for Vermont is held up? It has been understood for some time that J. M. Hays of Essex Junction was the leading candidate and likely to be appointed, but for some reason the actual appointment does not seem to be forthcoming.—Bennington Banner.

The resignation of Mrs. Boyce as librarian.

The resignation of Mrs. Louise L. Boyce as librarian of the Aldrich public library in Barre after thirty-six years' connection with the public library movement in this city recalls to those who are acquainted with her work the years of arduous labor which she gave, much of the time without financial reward but with the satisfaction of helping to keep the spark of life going in a splendid movement until it has developed into the well-established Aldrich library of the present day. When she first became interested in the work back in 1873, there was scarcely a shelfful of volumes, and from that day to this she, either as secretary or librarian, has seen the shelves multiply, the interest grow and an adequate library home built. There is gratification in seeing one's efforts thus bear fruit. And more than that, Mrs. Boyce has the sincere and hearty thanks of all people of the city who realize what a public library means to the community.

FAITH IN VERMONT'S SAVINGS INSTITUTIONS.

Bank Commissioner Frank C. Williams of Vermont is making a good beginning by getting out his first annual report promptly on time. Moreover, he seems determined to get at the basis of the banking supervision, as he indicates by stating that he has studied the banking laws of the state until he has become convinced that some change is necessary to secure the best results. However, he does not wish to assume the prerogatives of the governor's commission, appointed to investigate and report to the next legislature, and hence he will not attempt to make any specific recommendations in his annual report. According to his report the duties of the bank commissioner have been doubled through an act passed by the legislature of Vermont, and Commissioner Williams thinks that the added supervision included in the double duties is reasonable because "some practices, not warranted by law and not in accordance with principles of sound banking, have been allowed in some of our banks, but they are being rapidly corrected."

It is pleasing, too, that all the suggestions leading to reform in such practices have been acted upon at once by the bank officials. Such prompt steps by the bank officials will tend to increase the faith and confidence which is felt in practically all the savings banks and trust companies of Vermont. That there is confidence in them is shown by the fact that the deposits increased more last year than for any year since the department was instituted, with the single exception of the period from 1906 to 1907.

Three points to remember in shoe buying.

1st.—Consult your foot before you consult your eye.

2nd.—Cramp your pocketbook rather than your toes.

3rd.—A loose shoe may be as uncomfortable as a tight one. By all means get a fit.

Your fit is here—$4.00. Walkover make—Rubbers, too.

when the deposits jumped largely because of a more lenient law passed by the legislature of 1908. The total deposits now are $94,475,013.94, an approximate gain of four millions in a year when business confidence was not fully restored from the national panic of 1907. It will certainly be for the best interests of the banks and the people to have this feeling of confidence grow, and real reforms will be welcomed by both with alacrity.

CURRENT COMMENT

Vermont Press Veterans.

The Montpelier Journal thus refers to Vermont's journalistic centenarians: "The St. Louis Republic prints a 'Century Club of Newspapers,' the Vermont members being the 'Windsor Journal' (1783), the 'Rutland Herald' (1794), and the 'Vermont Watchman,' of this city (1806)."

We take off our hats to the veterans of the Vermont press.—Burlington Free Press.

The Heathen Next Door.

If it is true that Protestant missions have failed in Japan, perhaps we may eventually look for the reserving of some of the money and energy and brains and beautiful Christian devotion that have been wasted over there to be used in converting some of our own "heathen" right here at home to a more useful life. If the money that is sent out of St. Albans in one year for foreign missions could be spent right here in the city teaching a certain part of our population how to live, how to keep their bodies healthy, how to take care of their babies, how to prepare their food, how to understand some of the simple elementary laws of hygiene and sanitation and perhaps help to save their own lives and those of their neighbors, or protect the health of the whole city—that would be glorifying God some. "And inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me."—St. Albans Messenger.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

A Real Comedy is "The Man on the Box" Coming Next Monday.

Few comedies produced in recent years have aroused so much hearty laughter as the play "The Man on the Box," taken from Harold McGrath's popular novel of the same name, and theatre goers of this city will undoubtedly be well pleased to learn that this good play will be the attraction at the opera house on next Monday night.

From start to finish, its plot, its characters and its incidents are provocative of laughter. Comedy is always in high favor with theatre goers, and the full capacity of the theatre will surely be required for this performance.

The play will be presented here by a special company, headed by Elmer Walter in the role of "Bob Worburton," supported by Miss Louise Langdon and a cast of metropolitan favorites. The play will be staged with special settings, and the production will be complete to the smallest detail. Seats on sale at Kendrick's Saturday morning.

"Human Hearts."

"Human Hearts" will be presented this season with an entirely new scenic equipment. Mr. W. E. Nankville, at great expense had photographic views for the new scenes taken in the hills of Arkansas, in the locality where the scenes of the play are laid, so as to have the production as true to life as possible. These photographs were turned over to the scenic artist and the result has been most satisfactory. Mr. Nankville also commissioned the photographer to pick up anything in the way of properties that might lend local color to any of the scenes. The artist acquired an anvil and bellows from the village blacksmith shop, that were once used by the prototype of Tom Logan, the hero of the play.

"Human Hearts" in all its new scenic splendor will be seen at the opera house on Wednesday, October 13.

Where Do Your Earnings Go?

Every week you get a little envelope containing the week's earnings.

A part of this money must go to pay living expenses—food, clothing, rent, heat, lights; a little for pleasure; something for books, papers, magazines; a little more for insurance, perhaps.

A part should also be reserved for the unexpected expenses—sickness, accident and the numberless other little expenses that we constantly encounter.

The Satisfactory Way

is to deposit some part of your weekly earnings in this bank where you can get it when needed, and in the meantime your deposit will be earning interest at the rate of FOUR PER CENT.

IF

you have no money deposited in "The Granite" come in and let us open an account in your name.

Open Monday evenings from 7 to 8 p. m.

MONTPELIER

The Montpelier creamery is making some alterations and repairs on their building. The alterations are being completed while rooms are being finished off upstairs.

Patrick Kane was arrested by Officer P. J. Connelly yesterday afternoon in an intoxicated condition. Kane has been in jail the last part of his time for a long while and it was only last Thursday that he was released from confinement on an intoxication charge.

Papers were signed Wednesday for the transferring of the Hyde hardware store from the Hyde estate to F. A. Dwinell and his son, H. R. Dwinell. Mr. Dwinell has finished work at the National Life Insurance Co. to take charge of the store.

The first social night of the Y. M. C. A. was given last night at the association rooms on State street. During the evening about 100 people were in attendance. A short musical entertainment was given and light refreshments were served to the guests.

A workshop is being built in the basement of the annex to the State House in order that light repairs may be made in the State House. The shop will be equipped with an electric motor and saw and will be in charge of Dwight Dwinell, who has been employed about the State House for some time.

The cement flooring was started on the city hall yesterday and nearly half of the work was finished. This flooring is to be of reinforced cement work which is a cement mixture poured over a network of iron rods and braces. One of the plasterers at the entrance to the building was set yesterday and the other one will be put in place today.

The Curry-DeVitt-Frost Co., closed their contract yesterday with the D. Dwyer Iron Works, New Haven to furnish the steel penstock for the company's new dam which is now being built. The penstock is expected to be here in about a month. A number of representatives of electrical concerns are here to bid on the electrical machinery and water wheels.

The rhetorical at the seminary last evening were attended by a large crowd. A number of the students took part in original work and recitations from famous authors, and the pantomime which was given by the students was especially good. The rhetorical are obligatory on the students, as the curriculum calls for a public appearance at least once a term from all pupils.

The funeral of Charles R. Dewey was held from the home of the late Charles Dewey at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon with Rev. Homer A. Flint officiating. The funeral services were private and the bearers were George P. Dewey of Portland, Me., E. D. Blackwell of Brattleboro, P. A. Howland and William T. Dewey of this city; James Dewey of Quechee and Commander T. G. Dewey of Washington. Interment was made in the Green Mount cemetery.

The drum corps, which made such a hit last year under the training of Supt. of Schools Browncombe, will be continued again this year. Some of last year's players have gone away from school while others are anxious to join. The number of the corps at present is about 90 but this number will be thinned out before the most satisfactory results can be obtained. It is expected that about 70 boys will be in the corps this season and all of them will be first class players while the others will be trained by themselves.
